The pursuit of scholarly activities such as research leads to publication in health professions education which facilitates personal and professional growth as educators. There is a propensity for publication to focus on journals that have a strong emphasis on English language and first world. Henceforth, inclusivity in publishing health professions education research is important based on diverse and multi-faceted perspectives and practices. This workshop offers insights into embracing inclusivity in the publication of health professions education research.

WORKSHOP OUTCOMES

At the end of the workshop, participants should be able to:

1. Discuss the importance of inclusivity in Health Professions Education publishing.
2. Apply useful tips on successful Health Professions Education publishing.
